There's no staying in control when assaulted with the throbbing beats, kittenish fire, and jagged synths of In Control. The dirty dance pop track comes from London based singer songwriter DOLLS, or Nikki Milovanovic, who links up with British producer Fauxplay on the song. Dark and edgy In Control combines Gwen Stefani like mischievous vocals with much gritty Justice meets Chromatics electro alongside plenty of 80's Madonna or Michael Jackson new wave. In Control is the first delicious single from DOLLS + Fauxplay's upcoming album EAT IT UP, out May 20th.

Note:

Thank you for all your submissions and support, I truly appreciate it. Just so you know, I'm crazy behind and will try my best to get to every message and email when I'm able to. I work on IHM on the side out of pure adoration for what musicians do and what they create, on top of a full time job and everything else, and it's bonkers sometimes! Much love, my music friends!
